

The VEA is more than a professional association – we're a union.

A Strong
COLLECTIVE Voice

The Virginia Education Association is more than a professional association; we're the Commonwealth's union for teachers and education support professionals.

VEA has always delivered for its members, from getting a 5 percent pay raise, on average, for educators in the latest state budget, to winning more planning time and scaling back standardized testing. It's a fraction of what educators deserve, but it's a start - and now that collective bargaining is legal, we have an even more powerful voice.

VEA doesn't just provide things like high-quality legal assistance and liability insurance, we're an effective voice for educators, making a real difference in our schools and for our students.

Our Work Together

When you join VEA, you're not just getting top-notch liability insurance. You're investing in a unified voice for yourself and all educators that will make a difference in our fight for:

- Higher wages with real step increases for teachers and support staff, like cafeteria workers and bus drivers
- Getting administrators and school boards to listen to educators
- on important decisions that affect teaching and learning
- Dedicated planning time for teachers
- More funding for public schools across Virginia
- Protection from false accusations and arbitrary management decisions
- The respect that we deserve as educators

"When we all work together, we can get so much more accomplished... VEA raises my voice and the voices of others."
